Military Junta Rules Thailand

Surjit Confers on How to Legalize Coup

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—Thailand's constitution has been suspended and a military junta is ruling, an army spokesman announced today.

Acting Deputy Chief of Staff Lt. Gen. Surjit Charusaran told newsmen the junta had given no consideration as yet to the naming of a successor for ousted Premier P. Pibulsonggram. His regime was toppled in an army coup Tuesday.

Pibulsonggram's whereabouts remained a mystery.

Army Chief Marshal Sarit Thanarat, the coup leader who has been named by King Phumiphon military governor of Bangkok, was conferring with the Department of Justice on how to legalize his coup.

Lt. Gen. Surjit said the junta had not decided on the future of the Thai Parliament. But observers here believe the junta will want Parliament to stay in office at least until it can vote support of the new ruling group. After that it may be dissolved.

Sarit told newsmen Tuesday any new regime would follow along in the pro-Western policies of the Pibulsonggram government.

He said he dumped Pibulsonggram, premier since 1947, in the interest of the people, but declared, I have nothing to do with politics.

He said he wants to continue to cooperate with the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization and wants to keep the headquarters of that anti-Communist alliance in Bangkok. A meeting of SEATO military advisers is scheduled to open here Thursday.

Mahoning Group To Tour Schools

A subcommittee of the Citizens Committee for Better Education in the Mahoning Local School District will conduct a tour of schools in the district Thursday.

The subcommittee, headed by Dr. E. Cope, was appointed by Dr. J. F. Jose of Damascus, citizens committee chairman, with the aim of studying the condition of Mahoning Local Schools.

Voters in the district will decide on a $1,184,000 bond issue at the Nov. 5 election. The issue will provide for the erection of a 29-room high school and four rooms at Goshen Center High School.

The Mahoning Local School Board, which placed the issue before voters, has taken an option on the George Barnett farm on the Beloit - Westville Road as a site for the proposed high school which would house grades nine through 12.

Ohio Picks Two Plowing Champs

International Contest Goes into Second Day

PEBBLES, Ohio (AP)—With Ohio's two state champions picked, the 1957 World's Conservation Exhibition and Plowing Contest went into the second day today with 27 competitors vying for national honors.

From the 27, one national champion will be picked in each of two plowing divisions — contour and level land. The winners automatically qualify for next year's world contest in Germany.

World contest competitors are selected a year in advance through state and national competitions.

Representing the United States in the world matches here at Pebbles this year are Lawrence Goetmoeller of Mercer County, Ohio, and John Daniels of Mulberry Grove, Ill., winners of the 1956 eliminations.

Goetmoeller and Daniels will compete Thursday and Friday for the world title against teams from 13 other nations.

Tuesday Duane Mootz, 32, of Hillsboro, Ohio, won the Ohio contour plowing contest and Dick R. Doren, 23, of Xenia, Ohio, won the Ohio level land contest. They represent Ohio in the same respective divisions in the national contest today.

Many of the foreign entrants spent Tuesday in practice plowing on farms around the 2,500-acre site of the plowing contest.

Those from three competing nations—Finland, Norway and Denmark—were at a temporary disadvantage because their plows had not arrived. They were assured by officials that the plows, shipped from their homelands, will be here Thursday.

They have been practicing with equipment borrowed from some of the many farm implement dealers displaying products on the grounds.

Each of Ohio's two victors has a farm that calls only for level land plowing. Doren was right at home in the level land division but this year was the first time Mootz ever tried contour plowing. Mootz placed fifth in the state level land competition in 1952.

Gen. Clark Addresses Legionnaires

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—The American Legion today studied a proposal by Gen. Mark Clark that a summer camp for boys be set up in every military establishment in the nation to help prevent juvenile delinquency.

Clark was applauded at a Legion national convention dinner Tuesday night when he said he would make the proposal to President Eisenhower if the idea found support.

Clark, former United Nations commander in Korea, said he had conducted such a camp this summer at The Citadel, the Charleston, S.C., military college of which he is president.

He said the Citadel camp, besides providing recreation and a sense of discipline, taught character and love of God and country.

If, at the end of camp, the boys were given pins denoting them as junior defenders of the country, he said, they would go out to prevent trouble instead of to cause it.

Clark did not spell out details of the proposal except to say he boys would not wear uniforms and that the cost would be about two dollars per day per lad.

He estimated that hundreds of thousands of boys could be accommodated if the facilities were made available.

At the Citadel camp, he said, the boys studied the Constitution and the Bill of Rights and learned "What made our country great."

AIR FORCE PLANS TO FIRE ROCKET FROM BALLOON SUPPORTED PLATFORM

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Air Force late this month will attempt to fire a four-stage research rocket to an unprecedented altitude — 1,000 to 4,000 miles above the earth.

The rocket will be lifted the first 100,000 feet — nearly 20 miles — by a huge balloon which will then serve as a firing platform for the research vehicle.

The firing, Phase 2 of the Air Force's Project Far Side, will take place on Eniwetok Atoll in the Pacific, the Air Research and Development Command announced Tuesday. No specific date was given.

U.S. Unlimbers Two Big Guns For Faubus' Trial

Governor Shows No Signs of Retreating In Bitter Dispute

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—The federal government unlimbered two big guns today — a mass of testimony and a secret report — and prepared to bring them to court in the struggle with Gov. Orval Faubus over his refusal to permit integration of a Little Rock high school.

Faubus still showed no signs of backing down.

He was smiling and appeared untroubled when he posed for photographers before another talk with Rep. Hays (D-Ark.), who is trying to mediate between him and the federal government.

Faubus termed "absolutely incorrect" a story in Time magazine that quotes him, through other persons, as saying he called out the National Guard because he intends to run for a third term, and wanted to enhance his political chances.

The magazine said a close associate of Winthrop Rockefeller was its source. Rockefeller is chairman of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission and owns property in the state.

Faubus has consistently declined to say whether he will run for a third term.

Make No Comment

Rockefeller, reached in New York by the Arkansas Gazette, said, "I have no comment to make that might add further confusion to an already unfortunate situation."

In Little Rock today, the story is that Faubus is searching for an avenue of compromise with Washington. But on what conditions, in terms of time or other concessions, remained his own close-to-the-vest secret.

As the hour approached for the scheduled hearing in U.S. District Court Friday on the government's petition for legal means to stop Faubus from continuing to bar Negroes from Central High school, this was the picture:

1. U.S. marshals have served subpoenas on about 200 people. Most of them are residents of Little Rock. Presumably, they are in a position to throw light on the

Cases Ignored Court Attache's Error Put Trio In List Of Indictments

Failure of a copy of a list of names from the county prosecutor's office to specifically designate the outcome of three cases resulted in their being improperly listed in the News' Saturday report on the grand jury's findings at Lisbon.

Incorrectly, and unintentionally, included in the true bills were: Ann Kerestes of East Palestine, petit larceny; Glenn Veon of East Palestine, trespassing, and Mildred McCombs of Hanover Township, assault and battery.

The Grand Jury, instead of returning indictments as reported, ignored the charges brought against the three. The mistake resulted when the names in question inadvertently were typed by a court secretary in the same column as the true bills without being marked "ignored."

The News regrets the error and is happy to make this correction.

In addition, another case ignored by the jurors was left off the list. It was that against Harry G. Erwin, 52, 1325 Main St., Wellsville, who had been charged with sodomy.

A spokesman also said Project Far Side has no nuclear energy aspects.

The four-stage rocket will be packed with instruments, including a tiny, but powerful, radio transmitter which will relay scientific data back to earth.

There has been no description of the four-stage rocket, eight of which have been manufactured by the Thiokol Chemical Corp. of Elkton, Md. The helium-filled balloon was developed by General Mills Co.

Believed to Be Asian Variety

Thousands of Flu Cases Reported In New York, Mississippi, Texas

By The Associated Press

Thousands of flu cases, most of it believed to be of the Asian variety, were reported today in New York, Mississippi and Texas. School-age children were the hardest hit.

A Board of Health report showed 24,000 cases in Mississippi. Outbreaks near the epidemic stage existed in 12 Mississippi counties.

Dr. A. L. Gray, director of preventive disease control for Mississippi, said most of the cases are Asian flu. Up to 40 per cent of the population has or has had flu in some areas, he added.

Doctors investigated a suspected epidemic of Asian flu among more than 400 school children in Hastings, N. Y.

Five schools in Hastings remained closed. They suspended classes Tuesday, the first schools in New York State to do so because of flu.

Ninety pupils at an elementary school in Niagara Falls, N. Y., were stricken with an illness, believed to be Asian flu. The school remained open.

A total of 350 of the 1,500 pupils at the Central Square High School and elementary schools in Hastings were ill of flu.

The outbreak in Texas appeared to be spreading. At Conroe, 300 students were absent with flu.

Dr. J. R. Cook said the situation definitely had reached the epidemic stage at Trinity, Tex., 70 miles north of Conroe, where 100 children were stricken.

At Dallas, City Health Director

J. W. Bass set up classes in home nursing in event of a widespread outbreak of flu there. He said an epidemic could hit 50,000 persons in Dallas, creating a critical shortage of hospital space. Only three confirmed cases of Asia flu have been reported there.

The whole school system in Jasper, another southeast Texas town, was closed. Some 400 of 2,000 students were absent with flu.

Other outbreaks were reported at Beaumont, Port Arthur, Port Acres and Angleton, all along the upper Texas coast.

More than 450 students at Texas Christian University in Fort Worth are ill of a flu-like illness. Doctors, however, said they didn't think it is Asian flu.

Committee to Assist Local Program

Advisory Group Aids School of Nursing

The advisory committee to the Hannah E. Mullins School of Practical Nursing gathered for an initial session Monday at the school to begin work on advising the management of the school.

Committee appointments were made by South Metzger, president of the board of trustees. Purpose of the committee will be to represent the various interests in the area which may be affected by the school and to assist in problems of management.

A. R. Hanna, administrator of the Central Clinic, said that practical nursing education at a local level would be an asset to the area when he discussed the trends in nursing education before the group. Hanna said that training in professional nursing should more logically be placed under university direction.

Various other phases of organizing the new school, which has been instigated in lieu of the former professional nursing school, were enumerated by C. J. Mosher, Jr., City Hospital administrator; Miss Katherine Gibson; Mrs. E. R. Durand, director of the school; and Miss Lily Orth, nursing skills instructor. J. O. Beck of Lisbon discussed the responsibilities of the advisory committee, which was followed with a question session.

Refreshments were served following the meeting.

Advisory committee members, listed as to the groups they represent, include: Beck, chairman, legal profession; Mosher and Hanna.

Wellsville Request For State Aid OK'd

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Water Pollution Control Board Tuesday approved requests of three Ohio cities for federal financial help in building new sewage treatment plants.

The action, a board spokesman said, practically assures the federal grants. Mansfield and Sandusky are seeking $250,000 each while Wellsville wants $165,000. The communities are eligible to receive from the federal government 30 per cent of the cost of building treatment plants, but they may not receive more than $250,000 each.

The Ohio allocation of federal money totaled $1,650,000 for the current fiscal year. Perrysburg and Oak Harbor previously received federal grants and some federal money still is available for other communities. Grants are made on a basis of financial need and pollution control need.

West Residents Seek Release

Seek to Merge With Minerva Schools

A petition signed by 601 West Local School District residents requesting transfer of all but 5 1/2 square miles of the area into the Minerva School System in Stark County was turned into the Columbiana County School Board of Education last night for consideration.

Donald Baxter, president of the West Local School Board of Education and an avid promoter for transfer of West from Columbiana County into Stark, presented the petition which was signed by 601 persons or 85.1 per cent of the 698 qualified electors who voted in the last general election. Seventy-five per cent of those voters were required to make a petition request valid.

The petition distributors began getting signers Monday morning, after House Bill 320 became effective at midnight Sunday. House Bill 320, passed by the Ohio legislature this spring, allows citizens of a district to petition at any time for release to another school system.

The Columbiana County Board has 60 days in which to act on the request for release from this county school system, and Baxter said Ben Weingart, county board president, indicated the board might take the full two-month period to decide on the issue.

Excluded in the transfer request was the northeast corner of the township, which consists of about 5 1/2 square miles of the 36 square mile West township area.

The West Local district has been the focal point of a schools controversy which culminated in April when the county board moved to merge the district with the United School District. The move was later declared invalid because of a legal technicality, although numerous West citizens violently opposed the merger with a series of public meetings, injunction suit and other protests.

Other districts wishing to transfer have until Nov. 1 to get their petitions to the county board which will meet again Oct. 8.

The county board also issued certificates to 50 bus drivers who

Hears Ordinance Providing Police Women's Funds

Youngstown Firm Gets Contract For Paving Streets Here

Salem City Council Tuesday night gave first reading to an appropriation ordinance calling for the transfer of $1,200 from the general fund to the police department fund for police women's salaries.

Council President Curtis Vaughan explained that the money would pay the salaries of two policewomen for the three months of October, November and December. Each woman would be paid $300 a month for the first year.

Last July 2 at a special meeting, Council passed an ordinance authorizing the hiring of two women for the police department. Their duties would consist of passing out parking meter tickets, collecting the money from the meters and recharging them.

The proposal to hire the policewomen was introduced in Council at its June 4 meeting. The measure was included in an ordinance that covered new beginning wages in the police and fire departments.

At that time, because the starting salaries varied in each of these two departments, Councilman Arthur Hanna suggested a revamping of the wage scale to make it the same for both departments.

On June 18 an alternate ordinance covering the starting wages of the police department, fire department and policewomen was read for the first time. The measure was passed July 2.

Council heard the reading of a letter from Acting City Engineer F. S. Barckhoff stating that the contract for the paving of Highland Ave., Penn St. and the first alley east of S. Lincoln Ave., between Pershing and State Sts., had been awarded to the Kane Bros. Co. of Youngstown.

Work on the paving projects will begin Monday on Highland Ave. He said curbs would be laid first. Service Director James F. Feil reported that Highland Ave. will be closed from 3rd St. north to 11th St. on Highland beginning at 7 a.m. Monday.

Penn St. will be paved following completion of the work on Highland. The alley paving will be completed last.

Last July 2 Highland Ave. residents petitioned council to have the street repaved. Bids were opened at the end of last month for the awarding of the contract.

At its Sept. 3 meeting two weeks ago, Council passed an ordinance authorizing the paving of the alley and approved another measure authorizing the issuance of bonds to pay for the three paving jobs.

Mayor Dean B. Cranmer reported that the repair of the railroad crossing on Newgarden St. has been delayed by the Pennsylvania Railroad because it is short on funds. He said the city's chip and asphalt program has been completed except for a few street's that need patching. He said workmen are currently working on Barclay Ave.

Cranmer said water lines have been installed on Penn St.

The mayor read a report from Police Chief George T. Earley on the results of speedometer operation in the city during the past two weeks. The report said 114 cars were clocked on Sept. 6; 250 on Sept. 8; 188 on Sept. 11 and 304 on Sept. 14. Of all these, only one vehicle was exceeding the speed limit. The report was made on a suggestion by Councilman Alroy Bloomberg.

Councilwoman Mrs. Mary Bryan moved that Council write a letter to the Quaker City American Legion Band commending them on their winning the national championship. The measure passed.

Mrs. Bryan also recommended that council consider legislation for the placement of traffic lights or blinkers at the intersections of N. Lincoln Ave. and Superior and 3rd St. and Hawley Ave.

Concert Group Books Artists

Arthur Gold, Robert Fisdale, duo pianists

Zvi Zeitlin, violinist

Theodor Uppman, baritone

Violinist to Open New Season Here On Nov. 25

The Community Concerts Association was completed its schedule of local concerts for the 1957-58 season.

At the end of the membership campaign in the Spring, during which 700 members were enrolled, the artist's committee of the organization made its selections of talent based on the budget value of total membership. Walter B. Null, president, this week confirmed with Columbia Artists Management of New York the dates acceptable for appearances in Salem High School Auditorium.

Four concerts will be presented during this, the eleventh season of this non-profit community project.

Zvi Zeitlin, violinist, will appear the evening of Nov. 25. Widely traveled in Europe and South America, as well as coast-to-coast tours of the United States and Canada, this young Israeli violinist has been acclaimed as a great instrumentalist and interpreter of music.

A brilliant duo-piano team, Arthur Gold and Robert Fisdale, are scheduled for Jan. 8. They are this year celebrating their tenth season of joint performance on the concert stage and are considered tops in the duo-pianistic art in North America and Europe. Their record albums are on best-seller lists.

The highlight of the season will be Harry John Brown and the Manhattan Concert Orchestra booked for Sunday afternoon, March 23, at 3 o'clock. This dynamic young master of the baton leads his 21 musicians in a program of the classic favorites to his own arrangements of Broadway show tunes.

Brown, heard during the past seasons as associate conductor with Arthur Fiedler and the Boston Pops Tour Orchestra, is said to inspire his concert orchestra with the elegance and buoyancy of the best "promenade" and "pops" traditions. As a conductor, he has a flair for showmanship but his work with the baton is disciplined and precise.

Theodor Uppman, baritone, will conclude the season the evening of April 23. This young American singer has richly emotional voice and is an appealing stage personality. He has performed opposite Patricia Munsell in Metropolitan productions and is a popular star on "The Telephone Hour," "The Voice of Firestone," and "Omni-bus."

Salem concert-goers also are privileged to attend the concerts of the Alliance Community Concerts Association. Their season will be announced at the end of their fall campaign. As an advance booking they have scheduled "Mantovani and His New Music" for a appearance in Alliance High School Auditorium March 14.

Cause For Drop In Attendance at County Fair Cited

LISBON — Attendance at the 111th Columbiana County Fair was approximately 1,000 short of last year's fair, according to a report issued by Galen Greenisen, fair board president.

Greenisen said the fair board feels that the appearance of the Ringling Brothers Circus in Canfield on three days of the fair adversely affected attendance at the county event.

A lengthy discussion was held Monday evening by the board on the fair dates for next year.

All premium checks should be in the mail by the end of the week, Greenisen said.

The annual fair board election will be held in the Columbiana County Courthouse, Wednesday, Oct. 2 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Columbiana County residents are eligible to vote.

The terms of two members expire in November. They are vice-president Ben Weingart of Fairfield Township and Clem Laughlin of Wayne Township. A third member could be elected since the board did not appoint anyone to serve the unexpired term of Lawrence Copeland after his death. Mr. Copeland's official term also would have expired in November.

Greenisen said a complete financial statement on the fair would not be ready until sometime around Dec. 1.

Verdict Is Expected In $2,522 Civil Suit

LISBON — A verdict is expected late today in the civil case of Keasby and Mattison Co. of Ambler, Pa., against John Bica, East Palestine.

Keasby and Mattison Co. sued Bica for $2,522.19 which they claim is due for material and equipment sold to him.

The jury hearing the case before Common Pleas Court Judge Raymond S. Buzzard consists of: Howard Thompson, William Merchant, East Liverpool; Oscar B. Kissel of Wellsville; Lewis J. Catlos and Theresa Pithian of Salem; Ruth C. Fitch of Lisbon; H. F. Richards, A. H. Wilson and Catherine Weaver, Salineville; Thelma Firestone, Columbiana; Mary B. If You Dress Well, Stay Out of Drafts

How to Stretch Shrinking Dollar - - -

WHY LIVING IS HIGH: Newschart based on Consumer Price Index shows increases in most goods and services over 1947-49 base period with some clothes showing the only drop.

By JERRY BENNETT
WASHINGTON — (N.E.A.) — Dress fit to kill, if you must, but stay out of drafts.

That's the confidential advice of the Bureau of Labor Statistics on how to get the maximum stretch from the shrunken dollar.

With the cost of living at a record high, Labor's Consumer Price Index shows the average price for clothing has increased the least, while medical care has zoomed highest.

Clothing prices are only 6.6 per cent above average of all prices between the 1947-49 base period. But average medical expenses have jumped to almost 38 per cent above the base.

THE MAIN REASON why the price of clothing has been held down is the stiff competition in the garment business, it was pointed out. A price expert reports that about 30,000 companies make apparel for mom, dad and the youngsters. With this many firms in the business, prices tend to stay low.

Women can find the best buys because more synthetic materials and less wool are used in their dresses and suits. Also manufacturers usually cut down on quality instead of raising prices when production costs of dresses start to rise.

The best bargain a woman can find these days is nylon hose. They are about 30 per cent below the 1947-49 base. Rayon and nylon slips are next at about 20 per cent below the base.

Men can find the lowest price tags on pajamas at about 8 per cent below the base and woven shirts which are about 4 per cent below.

Between apparel and medical care on the index are food, up

16.2 per cent; housing, up 25.5; rent, up 35; personal care, up 24.2; transportation, up 35.3; reading and recreation, up 11.8, and other goods and services up 24.6.

RISE IN COSTS OF labor and farm equipment have caused the boost in prices of cereals, dairy and bakery products, fruits, vegetables and meats. Increases in the prices of fuel, services, furniture and rugs influenced the cost of housing and rents.

Tires, gasoline, transit and railroad fares played a big part in raising transportation costs while increases in the price of newsprint and motion picture fares pushed up reading and recreation percentages.

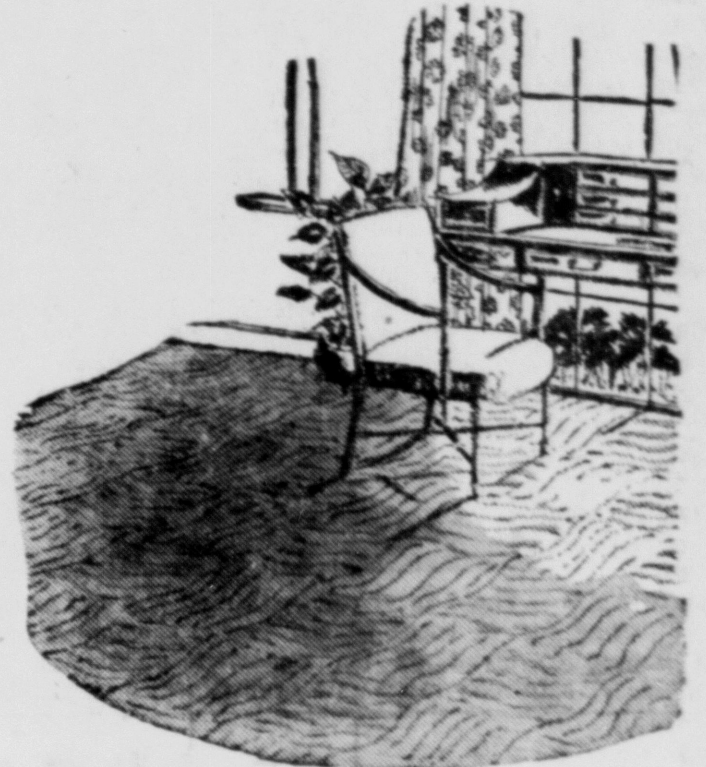

Economists call this the vicious price circle. A rise in the price of basic items in the nation's economy will invariably shoot up the price of everything else.

PERSONAL CARE COSTS were experts claim. A Labor Statistics expert explains, for example, that more people can afford to go to the hospital now than ever before. This is causing a greater demand for hospital rooms.

Also hospitals have greater operational costs caused by price increases in labor and equipment. Finally physicians and surgeons are charging more these days because they are forced, like everyone else, to try to keep up with the rising cost of living.

UTICA, Kan. (AP) — W. H. Sallee, principal of Utica High School, happily set about the blood-curdling role he had assigned himself.

He blacked his eyes with burnt cork and smeared catsup on his face. He slung a rope from the ceiling of the kitchen in an abandoned farmhouse just out of town and secured it under his armpits.

He waited in the dark. The occasion was the annual senior initiation of new high school freshmen Monday night.

Sallee, 60, had volunteered to play dead so he could keep an eye on things...be sure they didn't get out of hand.

Mrs. Betty Stevens, class sponsor, and 11 seniors drove up to the eerie old house with 23 freshmen in tow.

One by one the freshmen were blindfolded and led inside. At the kitchen there were moans. The blindfold was lifted and a senior flashed an electric torch on the hanging man.

After the eighth freshman had jittered through the course, the seniors decided it would be an idea to get a picture of their principal. He was such a good sport.

Mrs. Stevens called to Sallee. No response. Flashlights winked on. Sallee slumped in the rope. Someone called a doctor. The principal was dead.

An autopsy showed he had strangled.

"I just couldn't determine what happened," said Mrs. Stevens.

SEARCH FOR 2 ESCAPEES
MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Authorities are searching today for two men who escaped from the Mansfield Reformatory Tuesday by walking away from a work crew.

The two are Glenori Ratliff, 24, Greenup, Ky., and Thomas Joseph Waddell Jr., 20, Ironton. Ratliff was serving a 1-15 year sentence for breaking and entering. Waddell was imprisoned on the same charge.

Asiatic Flu Shots Gamble For Pharmaceutical Firms

By JERRY BENNETT
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Drug industry executives hope to know by next spring whether or not they should have paid more attention to their sales experts before taking a multi-million dollar gamble on the new Asiatic Flu vaccine.

Already the six vaccine making firms have bet an estimated 20 to 30 million dollars in their drive to have 85 million shots ready by Jan. 1.

They made this expensive wager against the opinion of their marketing research staffs who predicted the new vaccine would never sell, a drug industry spokesman reveals. These experts based their opinion on sales records which showed flu vaccine was not a popular item on the drug market.

At that time little was known about the strong chances of Asiatic Flu completely sweeping the country. The spokesman says that the command decision to risk millions of dollars is the hardest task the industry has faced so far in the round-the-clock vaccine mass production program.

PUBLIC HEALTH Service warnings that an epidemic was almost a certainty were largely responsible for the great financial decision. The menace to health coupled with PHS beliefs that Asiatic Flu would receive enough publicity to make people want the vaccine set the production wheels in motion, the drug company official explains.

He says returns from wholesalers show large quantities of the vaccine are being bought at present. He explains, though, that this is no guarantee that the firms will make a profit.

Any unused doses can be returned for credit. Manufacturers could be forced to take back large shipments of the vaccine if the epidemic doesn't strike or doesn't cover as much of the country as is expected.

One expert observer definitely believes the drug companies will go in the red on the vaccine production program. The industry spokesman says: "Chances are that people will be sufficiently interested in protecting themselves so that the drug manufacturers will make money in the long run." But he adds that it is still a toss-up whether the final tabulation will show a profit or loss.

Scientists, technicians and office managers have had to leave financial worries to the top executives. Since the all-out production drive started early this summer, they've been too busy to be bothered with money matters.

IN LESS THAN TWO months they have turned out more than three million doses for distribution. They have increased production to the extent that they now expect to top their old Feb. 1 goal of 60 million shots by 25 million more. And they think they can make this extra supply a month early.

Until the crash program rolled into operation, the manufacturers had only been geared to produce about two million shots a year of the old-type flu vaccine. To meet the new Asian vaccine quota, more workers had to be hired or switched from other duties to vaccine work.

It is estimated that the number of people involved in Asian vaccine production numbers in the thousands.

In addition, companies had to carry on extensive remodeling programs to provide more space for the mushrooming operation. And production of antibiotics had to be stepped up to provide sufficient protection against pneumonia which easily strikes flu victims.

Pipe lines are the transportation link between some 500,000 producing wells at one end, and about 300 active refineries at the other.

The Place For Blame

In view of Ohio's traffic accident report for the first six months of this year, it is interesting to note the hue and cry that went up when the state's speed limit was raised to 60 miles per hour.

The new speed law, which went into effect last October, could only accelerate the slaughter on Ohio highways, its opponents said. Statistics were cited to show tragic relationships between high speed and fatalities. Arguments that an increased speed limit was in keeping with a more realistic appraisal of modern driving conditions were answered with the claim that, in the face of the annual traffic toll, if the speed law was to be changed it should be lowered.

Yet the Department of Highway Safety reports that although more vehicles used the state's roadways and traveled at greater speeds, fatalities in traffic accidents from January to June fell below the same period of 1956, when the old speed limit was still in effect. The total number of accidents also declined, as well as the fatality rate per 100 million miles traveled.

What this proves, of course, is that speed itself cannot be blamed for the highway toll, which admittedly warrants the concern it gets. Rather, the blame for slaughter on the highways rests squarely on unfit drivers — those who consistently abuse better automobiles, sound traffic laws, increasingly modernized highways and the dictates of good manners and good sense.

When traffic accidents decline, it is a sign of success in efforts to drive the unfit drivers off the road.

No-Show Penalty

News that the nation's scheduled airlines are going to impose penalties on reservation holders who fail to show up probably brings a loud "hurrah" from the biggest portion of regular air travelers.

By actual survey, the most frequent complaint of plane passengers is that they frequently have great difficulty making reservations and then see lots of empty seats on the plane when it takes off. Almost everyone who has traveled by air to any extent has experienced the frustration and suspicion aroused by this situation.

There are, of course, emergency cases when would-be passengers unavoidably fail to make their flights. But in the total picture they are rare. It is the wide-scale abuse of the reservation system by inconsiderate travelers and underhanded dealers that the penalty is aimed at.

Some passengers, for instance, make a practice of reserving seats on four or five flights in order to be able to choose at the last minute the one they are going to use. And flourishing black markets have been suspected in some cities, with hotel employees buying up reservations and offering them at premium prices.

The problem has grown as planes have become larger and more and more people have become air travelers. Worrying the Civil Aeronautics Board has been the prospect of a bigger headache with the advent of the jet age in commercial aviation, when planes will have seats for 100 to 150 passengers each.

The new $3 penalty, with other rules put into effect earlier, should ease the whole problem as well as help alleviate the cost-price squeeze that has spurred the airlines to pressure for rate increases.

Lest We Forget

What good will come of another United Nations resolution on Hungary?

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge ardently believes it offers the best opportunity for accomplishing what the free world wants—eventual withdrawal of the Soviet Union's troops from the oppressed nation.

"We don't think force is practical," he has said. "You are dealing with a major military power with total contempt for public opinion when it goes against their wishes."

Paradoxical as this statement appears, the fact is that Russia must, in the final analysis, be sensitive to world opinion, for its greatest weapon in the cold war for men's minds is propaganda. Communism suffers its worst setbacks when it fails in its efforts to sugar-coat the harsh realities of its motives.

And never in the grim history of the Cold War has Russia suffered such a setback as in the Hungarian affair. Its contempt for human rights and freedoms was never displayed so clearly for the world's scrutiny as when it dispatched its armed might to crush the struggles of the suffocating Hungarians for a breath of free air.

Keeping this picture alive is the present obligation of the free world. If time is allowed to dim the vividness of its image or Russia's excuses—like Nehru—permitted to distort it, the darkness pervading Hungary will only be deepened and prolonged.

Lest the world forgets, Mr. Lodge is saying: "We can help Hungary by moral pressure we cannot help it by armed force."

Lesson from History

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Morality Seen as Unenforceable

Words of wisdom born of a sad experience by the American people a generation ago prompted President Eisenhower to say at Newport the other day:

"You cannot legislate morality where human beings are involved — it must come from within." This can readily be construed as a lesson learned in connection with the controversy over "integration" in the public schools. But back of the comment was the knowledge — which so few Americans have today but which is evidently vivid in Mr. Eisenhower's own recollection — of the way almost the entire nation dealt with the problem of the millions joined in nullifying the Constitution in the 1920's.

Enforcement became impractical. Then by actual repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment under which prohibition had been proclaimed, the problem was turned back to the local communities. Strangely enough, as one reads of the surprised attitude of so many persons today concerning the concept of "nullification," it might be thought that this had never occurred in America.

FORMER PRESIDENT Truman, who violated the Constitution when he seized the steel industry in the spring of 1952, talked glibly the other day of the importance of obeying the Constitution as he reprimanded Mr. Eisenhower for not taking more forceful measures in Arkansas.

Yet almost everyone forgets that "nullification" is a procedure adopted by a people who resent any arbitrary imposition of a law or rule of law by a minority or by an oligarchy.

Today it is a Supreme Court decision, and neither a constitutional amendment nor a law of Congress dealing solely with desegregation, which is specifically at issue. In the 1920's, on the other hand, there actually was in the Constitution itself an unequivocally phrased amendment which forbade the manufacture, sale or transportation of intoxicating liquors anywhere in the United States.

This amendment raised no conflict between the states and the federal government, for it gave "concurrent power" to both the states and the Congress to enforce it "by appropriate legislation."

Congress passed the Volstead Act spelling out in detail "the law of the land" on prohibition.

WHILE THE controversy about enforcement lasted 13 years, the actual process of putting through a repeal amendment took less than 10 months in the year 1933.

The widely expressed reaction at the time was epitomized in the oft-heard remark of those days: "You cannot legislate morals."

How many people are alive today who are familiar with what happened during the prohibition epoch? A glance at the census statistics shows that, of the 102,750,000 persons of voting age today, 73% million were 18 years old or younger in 1920. To put it another way, only 82 per cent know from first-hand experience how the American people, by individual "nullification," made a dead letter of the Eighteenth Amendment notwithstanding the fact that the entire state and federal police machinery of enforcement was available for the purpose.

The jails were full of violators — the "bootleggers" in prison who had sold liquor illegally averaged 53,000 a year.

WORST OF ALL was the birth of gangsterism in the big cities. This evil — a legacy from prohibition — is still with us in many localities.

The issue of prohibition had, of course, been argued for many decades. State after state, each in its own way, had been going "dry."

But, not satisfied to let each state or community handle the problem, the extremists forced through a federal prohibition amendment.

It was termed by President Hoover in his acceptance speech of 1928 "an experiment, noble in purpose." While he himself had serious doubts about trying to effect a reform by national constitutional amendment, he was sincere in his efforts at enforcement.

When repeal came in 1933, the Twenty-first Amendment gave the problem back to the states, where it is now—some states being "dry" or partly "dry" and some being "wet."

Local option — to let each state or community handle moral questions — is the only way that has proved successful in dealing with social problems in America.

The "integration" controversy is today in its infancy. It may take years to solve it.

TO ANONE who lived through the tragic era of prohibition and saw crime and vice on the rise, it was obvious that the American people came to believe the "cure"—enforced abstinence—was worse than the disease itself.

As President Eisenhower says, "you cannot legislate morality."

Maybe history will repeat itself and some day the people may adopt a constitutional amendment specifically overriding the Supreme Court decision of three years ago and giving to each state the right to handle its own school problems.

It seemed improbable in 1922—three years after the Eighteenth Amendment was proclaimed—that it would ever be repealed. It seemed improbable as late as the 1928 presidential campaign, when a "wet" was defeated. But it happened four years later just the same.

Animal Parasites in Humans

An article in the Journal of the American Medical Assn. brings to the fore the problem of the invasion of human beings by animal parasites.

There is evidence that parasites have plagued the human race since the dawn of history and some parasitic and tropical diseases are on the increase in North America.

One reason is the northern migration of peoples from Puerto Rico, the West Indies and the southern portions of the United States. Another is that more tourists, military men, Point Four personnel and others are returning to northern climes after varying periods of residence in areas heavily troubled by animal parasites.

There are a large number of parasites which can cause illness in human beings. The majority of them are taken into the system with the food or drink, though some, like the hookworm, can enter the body directly through the skin.

Perhaps the most common and troublesome of the parasites is the famous pinworm, but there are others such as the various tapeworms which can become established in the digestive organs.

One parasitic disease goes by the tongue-twisting name of schistosomiasis. One authority regards this as the most important disease of man, with the exception of malaria. Another states that it is the world's third most widespread disease, involving 200 million people.

It is thought that schistosomiasis affects about 10 out of 100 persons coming from regions where the disease is common. In Chicago it is estimated that some 2,200 harbor schistosomes for this reason. In New York City the number is calculated at about 70,000. Furthermore, those who harbor animal parasites are potential sources of spread to others.

The spread of parasites depends more on sanitation and hygiene than on climate. Hence, if the rules of sanitation and hygiene are followed carefully the spread of parasites can be at least partially checked.

The article mentioned states, "Parasitism is allowed to persist because of lack of knowledge, lack of interest, poor diagnosis and failure to realize the extent of misery caused by parasites. The application of our present knowledge could eradicate most parasites from our country, just as malaria and yellow fever were eliminated, if interest were taken, known facts applied, treatment given, and preventive measures adopted."

Electronic Brain Deciphers Code

By DAVID BARNETT

The following story is based upon interviews with top code experts of the U.S. government. By law, their names and positions cannot be published.

WASHINGTON
Giant machines have moved into the secret military world of codes and ciphers. The electronic brains can turn a message into gibberish as fast as a man can type.

At the receiving end, another machine can ungarble the secret message as fast as it can print.

And chances that the enemy will be able to figure out the message in time to use the information are slight — unless some human has goofed.

But humans are humans.

An expert in the field says: "There can be devised a theoretical machine system that can be mathematically demonstrated as unbreakable — a system with such an incredible order of complexity that there is never a repeat in it."

By a "repeat" the expert means that the same signal is used more than once to stand for the same word or letter in the message.

BUT THE MACHINES have not fundamentally changed what the experts call the art of cryptography (putting message in codes or ciphers) or of cryptanalysis (breaking codes and ciphers). One expert says:

"What the machines give us is time and an extremely high number of variables, approaching infinity."

The complexity of the machine system means that no such system can be broken by a potential enemy that does not have machines. But the electronic theory behind the units is common knowledge and everybody who is anybody now has machines.

As one expert put it: "In this field the offense and defense stay about equal. Five hundred years ago it was pencils against pencils; now it's machines against machines."

Ironically, the "unbreakable" system is by relatively old-fashioned code books. The code book, in use since 1904, is a code dictionary in which whole words, phrases and sentences are replaced by arbitrarily assigned signals.

But it has disadvantages: it takes time to use and two men, one to code and one to decode. For general use, therefore, code books are of minor value when millions of words of secret messages must be "secured" daily.

CODE BOOKS are still in use. For example, a short but important message between Washington and the U.S. Embassy in Moscow probably would be encoded by the book. Only two copies of each "book" are made up, and each page is used only once.

How are cryptographic systems ever broken?

One method is to jump on a human error.

Example: The secretary of state hands a diplomatic note to the ambassador of the land of Poo.

He sends it to his home government in code rather than "in the clear." The cryptanalyst has the original text. By comparing it with the gibberish sent by the ambassador he can break the system.

Another example: The operator of a machine system is ordered at intervals to "pull a switch" that changes the system. If he forgets, the monitoring enemy may get some repeats. That gives him messages to decipher in what the experts call "depth." With the help of the machines, the system can then be broken.

Another method is what the experts call an "exhaustion attack." Each element in the cryptogram is tried against each element in the original language in which the clear message was written.

THE MACHINES can make millions of such comparisons until the cryptogram makes sense. By that time, the sender has "pulled a switch" and the process starts all over again.

In other cases, fake messages are used. Suppose an enemy is informing its forces of the disposition of ships around some place that in code they call "Jimmy." The cryptographers think "Jimmy" might be the code name for Hawaii but are not sure. So a fake message is put out about the dispatch of a battleship to Hawaii.

Sure enough, the enemy informs its forces of the dispatch of a battleship to "Jimmy." The cryptographers then know "Jimmy" is Hawaii.

Sometimes, the experience and intuition of cryptographers does the job. As one expert put it:

"I have seen people look at a stream of numbers and say, 'I bet that is a five-digit cipher run on a multiplex.' So we try it of machine — and, by gosh, that's exactly what it is."

First Hour Of Daylight

By DAVID G. OBY

(Editor's Note: Some of T.T.'s readers have written vacation columns for him this year. Today's essayist is an advertising copy writer.)

Normally, I'm not around to glory in the first hour of daylight. In fact, this rarity occurs only when I'm out of my right mind. I'm the blanket-over-the-head type who springs like a wounded panther at the clattering alarm clock. The light at 6 a.m. is about as useful to me as a box full of warts.

In loose figures, the dawn's early light travels 93 million miles from the sun to my bedroom window, give or take a few miles. To bound up brightly to greet its arrival is asking too much of a devoted worshiper of dozing and drowsing.

But there have been occasions when the magnificence of the first hour of daylight has given me moments to remember.

That deep-winter morning when I raced the coming light to the Christmas tree and discovered THE BIKE. When the first light rays pierced the dark, it seemed as if they fell only upon this wonderful gift. A day had never been born so splendidly.

Those wind-chilled mornings when the shattering bugle call of reveille at summer camp on Lake Michigan's white sand dunes roused me out. Those giant goose bumps raised on those dawn dashes into the icy surf still haunt me.

That hour which came after a thought-tossed night in a dark room along Fraternity Row. In its coming, I realized irrefutably that I was in love. Many dawns have come since then, and I'm still in love with the same woman.

The dawn light which filtered down through a cold drizzle on my wedding day. I matched this first hour's mood with thoughts which only a scared groom-to-be can have. But I was able to turn that nagging "Am-I-doing-right?" fear into a much more comforting "I'm doing right" certainty.

That crisp, beautifully-clear coming of light into the inner reaches

Once Over

Thirst Regulating Center

You could have knocked most men over with a dry martini the other day when the president of the American Chemical Society announced that the yen for alcohol can be controlled by diet.

Dr. Roger J. Williams declared that potential alcoholics can be discovered in childhood and the diet so planned as to make them possible teetotalers.

The human brain has an "appetite regulating center," and when this doesn't get the right nourishment the resistance to "have another?" can be destroyed, he says.

There is a "yes" reaction and a "no" reaction, as we understand it, and when you get the proper diet the "yes" reaction is shrunk if not eliminated, except at anniversaries, banquets and clambakes.

THIS DIET IDEA reverses the field of deep thinkers in the drinking problem. It had been figured the other way around; namely that a man's eating was influenced by his drinking.

A wife greeting her loaded mate with "You've been eating the wrong food again," will seem odd.

Not to mention the police court magistrate who admonishes an inebriate with "You've been here too often for drunkenness, but I'm going to give you another chance to fix up your diet so you can pass a saloon."

OF COURSE DR. WILLIAMS points out that it should begin early in life. We think the potential martini addict will have to be caught especially young.

Adults who go for these libations probably have their "appetite regulating center" so far gone that they are beyond repair.

If they could be put on some diet early in life which would destroy the martini urge it might be different. You take a martini man after he has reached 21 and there are few foods that give him the strength to refuse even a moderately dry martini.

After 30 a genuine martini drinker can eat a whole buffalo, including the horns, and not be deterred from wanting his martini made by merely twisting a lemon peel into the gin.

JUST HOW IT CAN be determined in childhood whether a person may be a potential "I'll have one more" man or not is not clear. As we get it, Dr. Williams has been conducting long experiments as head of the Texas Biochemical Institute, and will announce details later.

It is hard to say how Texas drinkers will take to these tests. Texans are pretty rugged folks not inclined to have their convivial inclinations knocked out in their childhood. (And where will Dr. Williams' idea get in Kentucky?)

MOSCOW SAYS that a Soviet scientist has crossed the tobacco plant with a tomato plant and produced a nicotine-free cigarette. This was a pretty dangerous experiment. Suppose he had produced a tomato that could be smoked?

The experiments were conducted at the Bakh Biochemical Institute, and numerous vegetables were tried.

We hear a radish was crossed with a tobacco plant to produce a cigar. . . . This may have caused one of the recent atomic blasts.

IN CONNECTICUT auto licenses will not be issued to any 16 and 18 year old boys until they have had 30 hours of school classroom study in operating a car and at least six hours at the wheel. Fine, but the trouble is that a lot of instructors seem never to have heard of some of the safety rules, specially the most elemental one against cutting in sharply in making a turn from one street into another.

An editor of the Daily Worker for 12 years and a Commie for 28 years has quit the party and says he has discovered it isn't what he thought. . . . Moscow will probably accuse him of making a snap judgment.

We know a harassed TV addict who declares he is looking for a cigarette "with the JINGLES filtered out." And he also has a year to listen to a telecast from a brewery and hear a commercial urge him to try a baseball game to keep cool and refreshed.

Trial Set for 2 of 4 Accused Murderers Of Alliance Man

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—The first-degree murder trial for two of four men accused of killing Eldon Shoup, 25, during an Alliance burglary was set for Nov. 12 yesterday by Stark County Common Pleas Judge George N. Gordon.

Alfred Calabrese, 37, and Paul Perotti, 32, both of Cleveland, are accused of shooting Shoup during the Feb. 7 burglary of the Frank E. Wells' home in Alliance. Shoup and his father Earl, who had been hired to watch the house while Wells was on vacation, surprised the burglars in the house. The father was wounded.

No trial date has been set for three other men indicted in the murder and burglary. Charged with first-degree murder were Paul F. Carpenter, 27, of Cleveland, and Arthur LaRiche, 39, of Elyria. Alliance tavern owner Raymond A. Paone, 39, accused of planning the burglary, was charged with breaking and entering.

Doeskin gloves are named for the female deer because, centuries ago, the softest gloves were made in France from the skin of that animal. Today, the skins are provided by baby lambs raised on French hillside expressly for glove-making.

U.S. Marshals Support Against New Effort to Seat Red China in U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States marshaled support today against a new effort to seat Red China in the U.N.

The explosive issue is due for an airing late today when the General Assembly's powerful Steering Committee takes up India's proposal to make the seating question a formal item on the agenda.

India or the Soviet bloc—prime supporters of Red China—could bring up the issue in the Assembly by simply challenging Nationalist China's right to a seat.

It was generally believed, however, that they will wait until the Steering Committee goes into session so they can stage a full debate.

A U.S. spokesman declared the Americans stand ready to block any seating move. He expressed confidence they have more than enough support to do it.

Britain already has swung behind the U.S. move to defer the seating issue for another year. A number of other delegations have privately indicated their support.

Last year 47 nations voted to sidetrack the China question, while 24 moved to consider it.

Peiping's main support comes from the nine-member Soviet bloc and a considerable portion of the Asian-African bloc. Some Scandinavian countries also have been pushing for a showdown.

The 12th Assembly session got under way on a note of harmony Tuesday when New Zealand's Sir

Leslie Munro was chosen president. Charles Malik of Lebanon withdrew in the interests of "amity and peace."

Munro succeeded Prince Wan Waihayakon of Thailand, who has been named special U. N. representative on the Hungarian situation.

The Assembly gained its 82nd member Tuesday night, voting unanimously to admit the Federation of Malaya. The Southeast Asian state became an independent nation in the British Commonwealth Aug. 31.

The Assembly is expected to get down to the general debate Thursday. Secretary of State Dulles is listed as one of the first speakers.

Village Green

total net expenses were $28,601.39, leaving a profit of $13,174.29, all of which went into the Village Green fund.

Estimated total cost of the Green is $47,000 which includes the portion of the American Legion building acquired and the building facade and other expenses.

The Green project was undertaken by the Green committee under auspices of the Salem Historical Society, sponsors of the Sesqui, as a permanent memento of the city's 150th birthday.

A colonial white frame and red brick facade has been used in Village Green architecture with four white pillars placed at the front. A brass plaque has been placed under the eaves of the flat roof, inscribed:

"This Village Green project dedicated to the citizens and friends of Salem on the occasion of Salem's Sesquicentennial celebration and in honor of the men and women of this community who by their patriotism and loyalty served God and country in the wars of our nation. Sponsored by the Salem Historical Society, June 1956."

'Schools' Scheduled For Election Day Judges and Clerks

The Columbiana County Election Board today announced plans for schools of instruction in East Liverpool, Lisbon and Salem for the 946 judges and clerks who will man its 141 precincts at the Nov. 5 general election.

All scheduled at 8 p.m. the schools will be:

Oct. 14, Memorial Building gymnasium, E. State St., Salem; Oct. 15, Lincoln Elementary School auditorium, W. Pine St., Lisbon, and Oct. 16, Westgate School Auditorium, East Liverpool.

Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk, explained the schools will be open to the public in addition to the precinct staffs. Election board members will explain election law amendments and court rulings and opinions on ballot counting and marking as well as general election procedure, O'Hanlon said.

A question and answer session will follow each class. All precinct officials are expected to attend the meetings because of the heavy ballot load at the fall election, O'Hanlon said. In East Liverpool, the board will stress registration regulations and the correct keeping of precinct records.

He pointed out the precinct workers "will be taxed to the limit to handle the flood of ballots," as 44 special questions and issues are scheduled for a vote.

Here are the subdivisions that will be covered by each school.

Salem: Salem and East Palestine cities, Leetonia, Columbiana, New Waterford and Washingtonville villages, and Butler, Fairfield, Knox, Perry, Salem and Unity townships, a total of 49 precincts.

Lisbon: Lisbon and Salineville villages, Center, Middleton, West, Elkrun, Franklin, and Hanover townships and the West Point and Rock Camp precincts of Madison Township, a total of 28 precincts.

'Grangers Four' Sing At Rotary Club Dinner

The Grangers Four, a quartet composed of Gail Bartschy, Carl Alessi, Harvey Bates and Stanley Fee, entertained with songs at the Rotary Club's annual golf day outing Tuesday evening at the Golf Club.

The dinner program followed an afternoon of golf.

Another entertainer was "Dr. Weatherspoon" emulating street hawker. Hobart Butcher was toastmaster.

Excise Taxes Net Uncle Sam More Than $10½ Billion

WASHINGTON (AP)—Excise taxes netted Uncle Sam more than $10½ billion dollars in the 1957 fiscal year which ended last June 30.

Nearly half the total came from whiskey, beer and cigarettes, but numerous other items accounted for sizable shares.

The final tabulation, announced by the Treasury Department today, showed total excise tax collections of $10,647,540,000 during the 12-month period, compared with $10,044,195,000 in fiscal 1956.

That is considerably higher than President Eisenhower in his budget message to Congress last January.

The biggest single revenue producer was the excise tax on distilled spirits, which brought in $2,121,411,000. The tax on beer netted another 763 million dollars, and wine was good for 88½ million more.

Total tobacco taxes were $1,674,050,000. Most of this — $1,610,906,000 — was on cigarettes.

Four Persons Injured In Road Mishaps

Four persons were injured and two arrested in three auto mishaps which occurred recently on district roads.

A passenger was hurt when the car driven by Walter Eilert, 27, of Toledo hit a guard rail on Rt. 45, four miles west of Lisbon, at 4:50 a.m. Tuesday.

Injured was John Osko, of Phalanx Station. He sustained abrasions of the right arm and both knees. He was treated by a physician in Lisbon.

Canfield patrolmen said the accident occurred when Eilert fell asleep at the wheel of his car.

Eilert was arrested for reckless operation.

Three persons were injured in a two-car collision Monday at 7:30 p.m. on Rt. 62, six and one-half miles north of Salem.

Josephine Wilson, 24, of Rd. 1, Salem received lacerations of the left knee when her car went left of center and struck an auto operated by Raymond Redmond, 23, of Washington, D.C.

Dominic Dattilio, 43, of Leetonia, a passenger in the Wilson car, sustained possible fractured ribs.

Helen Redmond, 21, a passenger in her husband's car, received abrasions of the left leg.

The injured persons were treated at the Salem City Hospital.

Josephine Wilson was arrested for reckless operation.

William Summerville, 26, of New Castle, Pa. escaped injury when his car went off the road and into a ditch as he attempted to avoid colliding with an unknown car on Rt. 7, four and one-half miles south of Rogers, at 12:20 a.m. today.

Information to this effect, Faubus says, caused him to suddenly station the National Guard around Central High the night of Sept. 2.

2. Hays was still in Little Rock although he had expected to leave Thursday. He said the illness of his father, and business reasons, changed his plans.

3. A report drawn up by the FBI was ready for Friday's hearing before U.S. Dist. Judge Ronald N. Davies. The contents are secret. However, there are reports that FBI agents checked specific points in his information Faubus said came to him.

4. In Washington, the Department of Justice has squelched reports that it will ask for a delay in the hearing.

ARRESTED AFTER 12 YEARS

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A Dayton window decorator, who admitted he deserted the Army after serving four months of basic training in 1945, was arrested by FBI agents Tuesday. Samuel Vincent Manzione, 34, who has been using the name Samuel Natel, gave no reason for his desertion from Fort Ord, Calif., in January, 1945, E.D. Mason, chief of the Cincinnati FBI Bureau reported.

Mayor Freed Of Last Charge

Portland Official Indicted 5 Times

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Terry Schunk, the five-times-indicted mayor of Portland, was freed of the last charge in a long vice investigation Tuesday.

As with two previous charges, a state prosecutor said there were no grounds for the charge against the mayor, and a state circuit court complied with his motion for dismissal.

"Thank God for the American judicial system," said the 44-year-old Schunk, who had insisted that when he decided to run for mayor last year he became the target of a frameup by "a combination of the local underworld and a few so-called kingmakers in our community who operated on a basis of rule or ruin."

The last charge dismissed was one accusing the mayor of trying to get two women to swear falsely that gambler Big Jim Elkins, a key figure in the vice investigation, was a narcotics addict who was connected with prostitution here. Prosecutor Arthur Higgs said the indictment listed 24 acts and not one constituted a crime.

Identical charges against three other persons also were dismissed.

With those dismissal, about half the more than 100 indictments in the 1½-year-long investigation have been wiped out. There has been some duplication of indictments as a series of grand juries took up the cases, and officials were uncertain of the exact score.

But a newspaper, the Oregon Journal, listed it as: 59 cases dismissed; 3 acquittals; 2 pleas of guilty; 1 conviction; 51 cases pending.

In addition, a federal grand jury moved in last spring and indicted Elkins on federal wiretapping charges. Elkins, whose testimony was the basis for many of the state's charges, was convicted and sentenced to 20 months in prison. He is free on bond, to be available for the state cases.

Schunk was brought to trial on one charge, accusing him of lying when he denied taking a bribe from a gambler two years ago, when Schunk was sheriff. He was acquitted, and the state then dropped its companion charge that he had taken the bribe.

Acquitted in other trials were Clyde C. Crosby, Teamsters Union official, who had been accused of conspiring to receive a bribe while on a city commission, and a city policeman, Robert Sprague, who had been accused of false swearing.

The one conviction of a principal was that of Dist. Atty. William L. Langley, who was removed from office after being found guilty of failure to prosecute gambling. He has appealed.

Five Drivers Fined, Forfeit Bonds Here

Five persons were fined or forfeited bonds totaling $489 for traffic violations Tuesday, Mayor Dean B. Cranmer reported today.

Fined were Myron J. Conison, 39, of Urichsville, $25, overload; Glenn R. Bond, 36, of Detroit, $25, failing to register a motor vehicle, $125, gross overload and $100, fictitious plates; Nelson J. Lower Jr., 25, of 248 E. 8th St., $20, speeding and Frank A. Swanigan, 31, of Detroit, $25, license plates.

Forfeiting a $169 bond for overload was George R. Williams, 23, of Rathbone, N.Y.

Youth, 16, Hurt As Bike Runs into Car

Jerry Harris, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold B. Harris of 584 Park St., was slightly injured Tuesday at 6:40 p.m. when the bicycle he was riding ran into a parked car owned by Howard McGaffick, 43, of 440 Fair St., in front of McGaffick's home.

The boy was thrown from his bicycle, sustaining bruises on the chin, arm and fingers.

He was not treated.

Deaths, Funerals

Mrs. Luna Givens

Mrs. Robert L. Ware of 928 Liberty St. has received word of the death of her mother, Mrs. Luna Givens, 71, of 308 S. Lisbon St. Carrollton, who succumbed at 8:50 p.m. Tuesday at Mercy Hospital in Canton.

She was born in Tyler County, W. Va.

Besides Mrs. Ware she leaves three other daughters, Mrs. Vera Manley of Paden City, W. Va., Mrs. Hattie Machan of Canton and Mrs. Juanita Locke of Carrollton; two sons, John of Louisville and Paul of New Kensington, Pa.; a brother, E. L. Workman of Sistersville, W. Va.; and 17 grandchildren.

Services will be held Friday at the Allmon Funeral Home in Carrollton, with burial in Kendall Cemetery at Paden City, W. Va.

Friends may call at the funeral home Thursday from 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 p.m.

James R. Silver

Mr. and Mrs. James Cunningham of New Garden Road have received word of the death of their grandson, James Robert Silver, three-day-old son of Robert and Janet Cunningham Silver of 3124 Parkway Terrace Drive, Apt. 5, Suitland, Md.

The infant died Friday at Providence Hospital in Washington, D.C., where he was born Tuesday.

Burial was Sunday in Arlington National Cemetery.

Besides his parents and grandparents, he leaves his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Silver of Ranger, Ga.

Ralph L. Baird

CANFIELD — Ralph L. Baird, 57, of 341 Newton St. died suddenly of a heart ailment Tuesday morning at 9 at the Cleveland Clinic where he had been admitted Monday. Mr. Baird had been in ill health since January.

Born in Canfield July 6, 1900, the son of Lester and Eva Neff Baird, he had been employed at the Eljer Co. in Salem.

A lifetime resident of Canfield, Mr. Baird was a member of the Canfield Christian Church.

Survivors include his wife, Violet Gould Baird; three daughters, Mrs. George Shaffer of Canfield, Mrs. William Anderson of Cleveland and Miss Alice Baird of the home; two sons, Carl at home and Gerald of Austintown; 10 grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. Grace Marsh of Cleveland and Mrs. Loretta Raus of Bedford; four brothers, Harold and Elmer of Youngstown, Charles of Poland and Orville of Canfield.

Funeral services will be Friday afternoon at 2 at the Arbaugh-Pearce Funeral Home, with Rev. John J. Scott, pastor of the Canfield Christian Church, officiating. Interment will be in Ridge Cemetery on the Canfield Road.

Friends may call at the funeral home Thursday evening.

McKinley School Open House Set

McKinley School 'open house' will be Nov. 18 when parents of the students will meet with the teachers in their respective classrooms to discuss mutual educational issues.

Over 100 fathers, mothers and teachers attended the first meeting of the new term. A highlight of the session was a panel discussion moderated by Walter J. Hunsdon. Panel members, Harold Smith and Alfred Fitch, Salem Board of Education members, and George Baillie and Mr. Zimmerman discussed problems and the effectiveness of modern educational programs.

Mrs. Edward Lesch and Mrs. Norman Flack were co-chairmen of the hospitality committee. They were assisted by Mrs. Norman Pim, Mrs. Donald Smith and Mrs. Bruce Hack.

The Green lawn area will be landscaped with appropriate shrubbery and seasonal flowers under the supervision of the Green committee and the Salem Garden Club.

No part of the inside of the building will be for public use as originally intended by the Village Green committee, since City Council has indicated it did not want to shoulder the expense of maintaining public rest room facilities.

The American Legion Post is redecorating the upstairs portion of the building for post and auxiliary activities. The downstairs section will house offices of the local American Automobile Association.

The Green, upon completion, will be given to the city whose solons have decided to charge the park commission with the Green's upkeep.

Inside Labor By Victor Riesel

Will success spoil Jimmy Hoffa?

The sick, methodical power operation with which he has out-maneuvered all opposition appears to be turning him into a boom into a boom. He is uneasy for the first time, and it is a boom into a boom. He has discussed with his inner circle the possibility of stepping down to keep peace inside labor — which means keeping the AFL-CIO from ousting the Teamsters Brotherhood.

If Hoffa steps down he will need to wait only four years for another chance at the presidency of the world's most powerful union although the current term runs five.

HOFFA PLANS to shave a year off that term by amending the Teamster constitution to conform with one of the AFL-CIO codes which calls for conventions not more than four years apart — and sooner if possible.

What as disturbed Hoffa is not the strength of the opposition as much as the resentment of the average Teamster to his slick political and propaganda machine. The Teamsters resent the impression that Hoffa has them "in the bag."

It all started when his people fanned out from Washington after a midnight celebration spent mostly in sneering at the government after Hoffa was acquitted on the bribery charges.

The boys just laughed themselves out of a lot of sympathy as they told Teamsters back home how they brought Joe Louis into the courtroom.

And how bright Ed Williams was in getting the judge to give him all the FBI reports in advance so that Hoffa and Williams could not be surprised by an sudden government prosecution move.

THEY WERE already ready to hit the federal witnesses on cross examination because Jimmy and the boys knew every Justice Department move before it shaped up.

There was also the meandering memory business before the TV cameras, which brought the sale of beer up in many a pub as Teamsters watched their chief before the McClellan committee.

Soon the reaction was that "he thinks everybody is a jerk, may be us, too." Finally the rank-and-file Teamsters began speaking at local meetings.

There can be no better case of vox pop since the days of the Roman Forum than at the meeting of 1,000 truck drivers — members of Johnny O'Rourke's Local 282 — in New York's Manhattan Center last Thursday night.

O'Rourke is Hoffa's buddy. O'Rourke is the man Hoffa helped make chief of the famous New York Teamsters Joint Council 15 — of paper local reputation.

O'Rourke is the man Hoffa promised to make president if the Washington jury had brought in a guilty verdict thus disqualifying Hoffa from the Teamsters' presidency.

O'Rourke had assembled the men to vote for delegates to the national Teamsters' clambake. He arose to remind the multitude that nine years ago the local had resolved officially that the delegates to the convention automatically would be the union's top 12 officers. Then spoke the people. For five hours.

Okay, they said, for the top four officers. But the other eight would have to be elected by the members right then and there.

And there were almost 200 nominations from the floor. So they got up 200 improvised slips. On eight of them they wrote the word "delegate."

THE NOMINEES drew the slips. Thus the people chose their spokesmen. And then they refused to instruct the delegates in advance to vote for Jimmy Hoffa at the conclave down Miami way.

Then there is Local 852, which covers the big wholesale grocery warehouses. The boys have gotten up a round-robin petition urging the delegates not to vote either for Hoffa or Beck — for any office.

And when the over-the-road truck drivers pull up to the warehouse, platforms to dump their products from across the land, the local boys give them similar petitions for signing in a hundred other cities.

So it is across the land. Slowly stirring Teamster locals are communicating with each other, throwing enough missives into the mail to help lift the postal deficit.

THERE IS no doubt that Hoffa can outmaneuver his grass-roots opposition. There is no doubt that Hoffa had many of the boys pledged in writing in advance.

Nor is there any doubt that Hoffa will have to take the presidency over strong and vocal opposition which could roll up half a million votes against him if the resentment grows.

This would make it easier for the AFL-CIO to toss out the national Teamsters union. It could leave Hoffa with a split outfit.

The empire would be dissolved before he could rule all of it. The crown of wheels will press heavily — and Jimmy may decide the headache's not worth it.

Church Salesmanship

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Rainy day reflections of a pavement Plato: Churches need more salesmanship.

Despite a national upsurge of religious interest, ministers still complain of empty pews, particularly on Sabbaths marked by good golfing weather.

Their harangues do little good, however, and one wonders occasionally why more pastors don't adopt the showmanship of the business world.

There have been suggestions the churches might give prizes to adults for regular attendance, as they do now for children. The thought even has been advanced that this could be done in a form familiar to millions of American husbands and wives — so-called premium stamps.

For example, each person might receive 5 stamps for each service he attended, plus 10 stamps for every contribution to the collection plate. These would be pasted into a book and, in time, exchanged for premiums ranging from a family Bible to religious objects — or, perhaps, even badly needed household furniture.

The mere suggestion of giving premium stamps for going to church might affront the sensitive devout, but after all they are no the problem. They already go to church. The task that confronts the conscientious clergyman is how to swell his congregation so that more can hear his message.

The church is neither a supermarket nor a filling station, and salvation is not a mere bargain, some might object.

Yet aren't they wrong? Isn't a good church the greatest of supermarkets, the finest of all filling stations, dispensing the bread of the soul and the fuel of the spirit? Isn't salvation the tremendous bargain most of the earth's lost bargain hunters are vainly seeking?

The trouble with salvation is that most people have heard it's free and therefore they doubt its value, because life has taught them you don't get something for nothing. Actually, of course, salvation is a very real price tag — called penitence.

But how is the preacher going to get his flock together so he can deliver his message? After all, the Salvation Army beats a drum in the street to collect crowds, and out of these crowds it salvages some souls.

If a church can do the same thing by giving prizes to increase regular attendance, then is it not worth considering? Some may say that the very idea is an affront to the dignity of religion and an invitation to flood the churches with opportunistic hypocrites. But no church has as its function the pursuit of earthly dignity, and it is better for a church to be filled with hypocrites — after all, hypocrites can change — than to stand half-empty, Sabbath after Sabbath, with the minister preaching to yawning pews.

And, actually, would anybody's dignity really be immorally offended if, in some church that gave premium stamps, one lost soul should find salvation and at the same time win as a prize a floor lamp to read his Bible by? What do you think? What does your pastor think?

Driver Finds Auto Part is Expensive

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—A Blytheville man drove his car into a garage to get a 35-cent auto part and ended up with a repair bill for $1,700.

Fletcher Womack said he was backing into the garage Tuesday when he reached for the hand brake but somehow contacted the accelerator. The car lurched back and knocked a huge hole in a brick wall.

The crumbling wall caused a large overhead door to fall on Womack's car, the impact of the falling door somehow jarred the car's automatic transmission into a forward gear, and the vehicle plowed into another automobile.

Womack was lucky. He escaped injury—and he also had insurance. But he left without getting the 35-cent part he intended to buy.

Down On The Farm

Sept. 26 'Fly Free' Date

Sept. 26 is the "fly free" date for seeding wheat in Columbiana County.

Wheat seeded prior to that date is subject to serious damage from Hessian fly. Community action is needed to avoid damage from the insect.

Volunteer wheat which comes up during September should be discarded or otherwise destroyed to prevent infestation. Where farmers of an area cooperate in delaying seeding until the 26th, the fly causes no damage to wheat, according to County Farm Agent Floyd Loter.

In 16 years of experimental work at the Ohio Experiment Station at Wooster, which is in the same latitude as Columbiana County, the best yields were obtained when seeding immediately following the fly-free date regardless of infestation of the insect. Early seeding has not given as high yields as seedings made the last week of September or the first few days of October, Lower said.

Judge Helps Salesman To Realize Old Dream

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—A Montgomery real estate salesman got an assist from Circuit Judge Walter B. Jones to realize an old dream of having a "Tom," "Dick" and "Harry" in his family.

Jones granted a court order Tuesday to change the name of the 20-month-old son of Joffre D. Brantley Sr. from Joffre to Dick Brantley.

"I named my first boy 'Tom,' and when the second one was born some one talked me out of it. Then I named the last one Harry and decided to go back and change the middle one's name to Dick."

Mediators Schedule New Talks

No End in Sight in Ohio Bell, Western Electric Co. Strikes

CLEVELAND —The statewide strike against Ohio Bell Telephone Co. and the nationwide strike against Western Electric Co. continued today with no settlement in sight.

Federal mediators scheduled new talks today in Cleveland in the Ohio Bell strike and also in New York for the strike against Western Electric, manufacturing arm of the parent American Telephone and Telegraph Co.

Tuesday's talks produced "no progress."

The Communications Workers union started both strikes Monday morning. In Ohio, 18,500 members walked out at Ohio Bell exchanges in 45 cities. In the Western Electric dispute, 23,000 installers struck the company in 44 states, with pickets keeping many of the nation's 150,000 operators away.

In Cleveland, union negotiators said they think a Western Electric settlement is the key to an Ohio Bell settlement. But a company spokesman said they are separate disputes.

"Ohio Bell is bargaining in Ohio for Ohioans," he said. The CWA has said it will respect picket lines posted by Western Electric strikers in Ohio, even if a settlement is reached with Ohio Bell.

Ohio Bell reported Tuesday night that several wires to main boxes in the suburbs of Cleveland Heights and East Cleveland had been cut.

7 Women Found Working Past Legal Limit at Ohio Bell

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Officials of the Ohio Industrial Commission say they found seven cases of women working beyond the legal number of hours at Ohio Bell Telephone Co. here.

Inspectors from the Commission's Minimum Wage, Women's and Minors Division made a spot check of the company after receiving complaints from officials of the striking Communications Workers of America (CWA).

Inspectors said they found seven women worked more than limit of nine hours a day at the traffic and toll buildings. Locals 4310 and 4320 of the CWA complained that several non-striking women workers were staying in the building 12 hours or more.

Division Chief Joe L. Hardy said that no action will be taken against Ohio Bell. He said company officials agreed to keep a careful check on overtime work.

Formosan Missionaries To Speak to Friends

Rev. Charles and Elsie Matti, returned missionaries to Formosa, will be the guest speakers at the mid-week service tonight at 7:30 in the Millville Friends Church.

Color slides will be projected at the end of the service. The Mattis were missionaries working under the Ohio Yearly Meeting mission board.

Residents Want to Keep Their Street Bumpy

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP)—Riviera drive needs repairing but its residents want it to stay bumpy.

They told the City Commission Tuesday the bumps keep buses off their street and slow down other traffic.

The commission agreed to keep its repair crews off Riviera.

KILLED IN CAR CRASH

FREMONT, Ohio (AP)—Douglas Hansen, 29, a welder for a Lima construction firm, was killed Tuesday when his car crashed into a tree as he tried to outrun a police cruiser. The cruiser struck at a guard rail, but the officers escaped injury. Hansen resided in Fremont.

ISLAND FLOATS INTO GOTHAM—Some New Yorkers undoubtedly swore off hard liquor when they looked out over the Hudson river and saw this tropical island. The floating island, complete with palm trees and huts, is a miniature of a real Bahamian isle which will be given away this fall in the "Treasure Island" contest.

MAKING A GETAWAY FROM IT ALL—One of the favorite tourist spots this year for those who want solitude is Two Medicine lake, Mont., in Glacier National park.

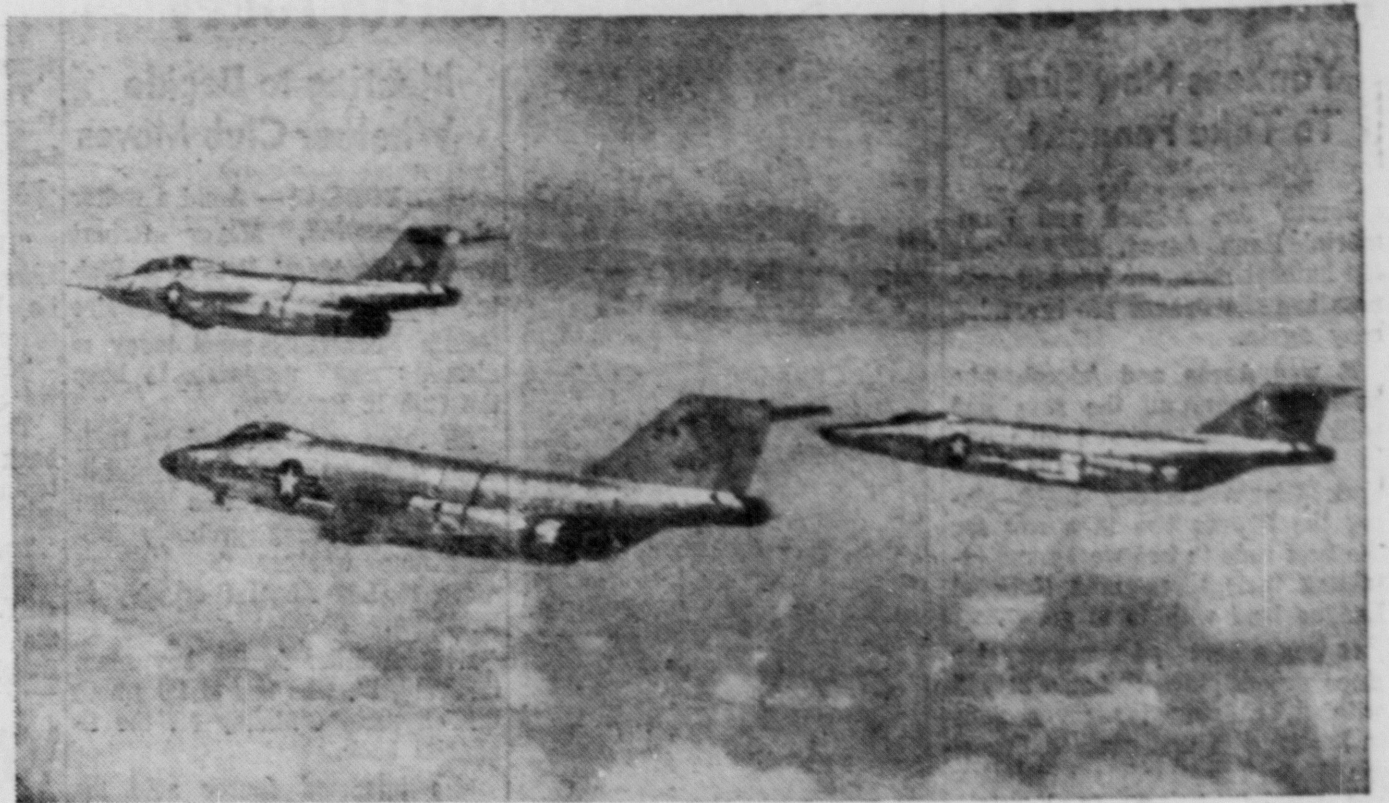

HE'S A CHAMP HERE—Gene Fullmer once held the middleweight boxing crown, but he's still a champ as far as church members are concerned. Here Fullmer (right) appears at a chapel in Sun Valley, Id.

HONEY FROM ORCHIDS?—The avocation of J. Neill, president of a greenhouse firm in Gates Mills, O., is gathering beads of honey from orchid plants. Each drop is pure honey. As Neill says, "Not everyone can have orchid honey on 'breakfast toast.'"

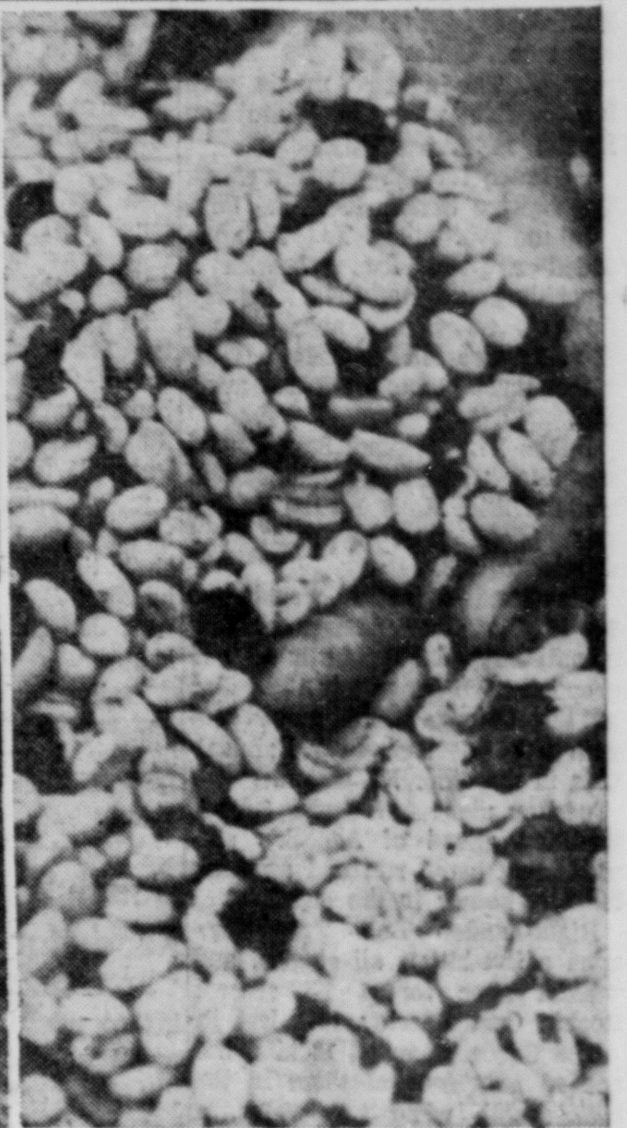

A FAME OF SORTS—Comely Martha Hyer takes time off from her latest picture to inaugurate a "Forecourt of Fame" in Hollywood. She's adding her foot and hand prints to newly laid cement. She is currently mayor of Universal City. King Features Syndicate.

FLIGHT OF THE VOODOOS—Three versions of the F-101 Voodoo supersonic series streak over St. Louis in flight formation for the first time. The F-101B (left) is an interceptor, the F-101A (center) can perform as a fighter and also deliver nuclear bombs. The RF-101 (right) is world's fastest photo reconnaissance plane.

'COFFEE BREAK'

Beans are spread in drawer trays for drying. Trays slide under shed in rain.

FOR THOSE employees who don't like to miss the office "coffee break," here's good news—the 1957 harvest is getting underway. In Colombia, for example, "wake-up tonics" for more than 114 million Americans are being picked from trees. Three million Colombians are completing the harvest, which will run to four million bags for export to the United States. Each bag weighs 150 pounds. Every bean must be hand picked. The "coffee break" is a financial break for Colombia, which depends on coffee for about 86 per cent of its total income. Although second to Brazil as the world's largest producer, Colombia leads in the area of mild coffees, which bring a higher price than other brands. Coffee is grown on 250 thousand "fincas"—most of them in temperate lands up to 6,500 feet above sea level.

Coffee bags are shipped out by aerial cargo-way.

Braves Retain 3-Game Lead With 3-1 Victory Over Giants

Cardinals Rally To Rip Dodgers

Yankees Now Sure To Take Pennant

By The Associated Press
Jarrin Joe Adcock and Hamner Hank Aaron, Milwaukee's top hatchet men, are back in business and the Braves are breathing easy again.

It was Aaron and Adcock who homered home all the runs and split six of Milwaukee's nine hits in a 3-1 victory over the New York Giants Tuesday night—giving the Braves two in a row for the first time in two weeks and retaining their three-game National League lead with 10 to go.

It was a neat and necessary job since second-place St. Louis stayed with it, rallying for seven runs in the seventh that crushed Brooklyn 12-5. The thirdplace Braves, virtually out of it, trailing by eight with eight to play.

Any combination of eight Milwaukee victories and St. Louis defeats wraps up the Braves' first pennant since 1948.

The American League champ is now a certainty (surprise!) with the New York Yankees holding a 6½-game lead with nine to play after beating Detroit 7-1 while Baltimore rocked Chicago's second-place White Sox 7-5 in 10 innings. The Yankees' magic number is five with the White Sox having 12 games remaining.

So much for the pennant races. The batting battles look like this:

In the AL, ailing Ted Williams added a point for .377 with a pinchhit home run that triggered Boston's 9-3 victory over Kansas City. Yankee Mickey Mantle, 0-for-3, lost three points for a .366 average.

In the NL, Cardinal Stan Musial was 1-for-2 and stayed put at .342 while Willie Mays of the Giants was 1-for-4, lost a point and slipped to .338.

Cleveland defeated Washington 7-3 in the other AL game. Cincinnati bagged Pittsburgh 9-5 and dropped the Pirates into the cellar as the Chicago Cubs moved out with a 7-1 decision over Philadelphia in the other NL action.

Tuesday night Aaron was 3-for-4, doubling ahead of Adcock's second-inning home run and swatting his 41st homer in the eighth.

Right-hander Bob Trowbridge spun a five-hitter, all singles, and walked none for a 7-5 record. Rookie Curt Barclay (98) lost it.

The Cards smacked 12 hits, but needed only four of them in the big seventh when two walks, a sacrifice fly and one of three Dodger errors helped overhaul a 5-3 Brook lead. Reliever Ed Roebuck walked the lead run across and Irv Noren then socked a three-run pinch triple that guaranteed a 15th victory for Card ace Larry Jackson.

Rookie southpaw Danny McDevitt was the loser.

Bobby Shantz, winless for a month, tossed a four-hitter for an 11-5 record. The stubby southpaw lined a two-run single that closed a big sixth eighth, which Hank Bauer opened against loser Billy Hoelt (8-11) with his 18th home run.

The Orioles, three-hit and trailing 5-1, junked Billy Pierce's second bid for his 20th victory with four runs in the eighth, then beat rookie Barry Latman on Bob Neman's two-run homer in the 10th. Billy Loe won his 12th in relief.

Williams' 34th homer was a two-foot job that led off a 40-run eighth in his first appearance since Sept. 1. That tied it and the HITTING THE ROAD — It's this all-out effort at Greenwood Lake, N. Y., that is getting Sugar Ray Robinson in shape to defend the middleweight championship against Carmen Basilio at Yankee Stadium, Sept. 23.

Red Sox then nailed it with Billy laus' RBI single. Murray Wall (3-0) was the winner with Tom Morgan the loser, both in relief. Ray Narleski won his 11th for the Tribe, blanking the Nats for seven. Russ Nixon's three-run homer gave him a quick lead in the second against Camilo Pascual, who lost his 15th.

Home runs by Bob Tharman and George Crowe fired a five-run sixth that did it for the Redlegs handing Bob Friend his 18th defeat. Joe Nuxhall won with relief.

Ernie Banks, Bobby Morgan and rookie right-hander Moe Drabowsky homered for the Cubs. Rookie Jack Sanford lost his eighth.

Coach Says Panthers Ready for Oklahoma

PITTSBURGH (AP)—While making no predictions, tactician Johnny Michelosen quietly admits his Pitt Panthers are ready for Saturday's football battle here with Oklahoma, victor in its last 40 contests.

Coach Michelosen didn't go overboard in making an appraisal Tuesday—he never does—but he indicated he feels the squad is coming along fine. Maybe even better than he had hoped.

For the first time in weeks Michelosen appeared at least somewhat satisfied after his players completed their final scrimmage.

After ticking off a number of commendable points, Michelosen concluded: "We'll be ready."

Hitting
Joe Adcock and Henry Aaron, Braves—each had three of Milwaukee's nine hits, driving in all runs of a 3-1 victory over the Giants with homers. Adcock hit his 10th after Aaron's double in the second, and Henry slugged his 41st in the eighth.

Dodger Confab Set for Today

Meeting to Decide Whether Club Moves

NEW YORK (AP)—Amid a welter of speculation, Mayor Robert Wagner, Dodgers' President Walter O'Malley and multimillionaire Nelson Rockefeller meet today to discuss "new" proposals to keep the club in Brooklyn.

All three, accompanied by their legal advisers, were noncommittal, but this much was certain: 1. The meeting probably will determine whether the Dodgers move to Los Angeles or stay in Brooklyn.

2. Rockefeller is the key man, the "angel", who has to take both the city and O'Malley off the financial hook.

One informed source said the city was pressing Rockefeller to contribute an additional million dollars.

Another report had the city hoping that Rockefeller would "take up the difference between what O'Malley wants to pay and what Wagner wants for the proposed land in downtown Brooklyn for a new park.

Only last week, Rockefeller revealed that he was in the midst of negotiations designed to keep the Dodgers in Brooklyn and had offered to help defray the cost of a new stadium. This O'Malley refused.

Wagner is caught in the middle. With the New York Giants already having announced they will move to San Francisco next year, his advisers fear political repercussions if the Dodgers also move.

On the other hand, if he can persuade Rockefeller to jack up his contribution, the city's cost of the new stadium would decrease. Politically, the administration fears it may be leaving itself vulnerable to charges of using public funds for private business.

The Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors has approved a package deal designed to bring the Dodgers to the West Coast. The board has agreed to appropriate up to $2,700,000 to build access roads to the site of the proposed baseball property in Chavez Ravine.

Virgil Akins, Gil Turner Fight Tonight

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Veteran Virgil Akins, who has been clamoring for a welterweight title shot for close to five years, gets a chance to bolster his bid tonight when he faces hustling Gil Turner at the Auditorium.

The 29-year-old St. Louis contender, ranked second by Ring Magazine and third by the NBA, is an 8-5 favorite to beat the 26-year old Turner in the television 10-rounder.

Turner, a 152-pound Philadelphia, is ranked No. 8 among the welterweights by Ring and ninth among the middleweights by the NBA. He is in the awkward weight class, too heavy for the welterweights and too light for the middleweights.

Ordinarily beating a fellow who is ranked behind you doesn't appear to be the best way to gain stature. But Turner is a such a crowd pleaser with his bang-bang, no letup style that anyone who beats him is a cinch to add plenty to his popularity.

A veteran of 60 pro fights in a nine-year career, Akins has been a colorless performer although a good one. His record is 43-16-1, including 23 knockouts.

Gil's record is 44-15-1, including 35 kayoes. ABC will telecast at 10 p.m., EDT.

Lane Attributes Cards' Pace To 'Great Desire to Win'

ST. LOUIS (AP)—"A hungry team."

That is what General Manager Frank Lane thinks of his St. Louis Cardinals in their stretch run for the first Red Bird pennant since 1946.

"If we do win the pennant," Lane said Tuesday night, "it will be because we are a hungry team."

"Great desire has put us where we are."

The Cards are three games back of first-place Milwaukee, a team Lane says has more talent than St. Louis.

Tuesday night's 12-5 Cardinal triumph over Brooklyn sounds easy. But in the seventh inning the Cards were losing 5-3. The Busch Stadium scoreboard keeper added to their woes by posting Milwaukee's 3-1 victory over New York. A defeat would have put the Cards four behind with ten games to go — a heavyweight chore.

The Cards reacted violently with a seven-run outburst. Field Manager Fred Hutchinson relaxed in his dressing room after the game and said:

"They've got a good feeling. We've got good momentum and we've got to keep it. We can't wait on anybody else to beat Milwaukee. We play them three games so we've got to beat them."

Lane doffed his hat to Milwaukee Manager Fred Haney and said he deserved a lot of credit for the patchwork job he did when regulars Johnny Logan, Billy Branton and Joe Adcock were injured.

"The Braves are much deeper than the Cardinals," Lane said. "except for Stan Musial, Al Dark and Del Ennis most of the Cardinals are comparative youngsters who had few talking points when their contracts came up for discussion in past years."

"I hope all 25 Cardinals come to me next year thinking they have a reason for an increase in pay."

Haney Says 'Hit' Sign Was Mark Of 'Scared Baseball'

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Fred Haney, round, flush-faced manager of the National League pacesetter Milwaukee Braves, sized up the little group of writers before him Tuesday night and said, "I was playing scared baseball, that's all."

Then he laughed, enjoying himself immensely, because he and his listeners knew the little Irishman was poking fun at his reputation as a conservative manager.

Haney referred to the "hit," sign he flashed big Joe Adcock on a 3 and 0 pitch in the second inning of the Braves' game with the Giants. Hank Aaron was on second at the time, with the first of his two doubles.

Adcock parked Curt Barclay's "cripple" pitch in the left center-field bleachers for a 2-0 lead the Braves never relinquished.

The final score was 3-1. It was Milwaukee's second straight victory after losing 8 out of 11 since Sept. 4. The decision enabled the Braves to retain their three-game lead over the runnerup Cardmen who also won.

I was afraid he wouldn't hit the 3-1 pitch," said Haney. You know me, I'm conservative."

As a matter of fact, the Braves seldom get a chance to swing on a three-ball and no-strike count because he doesn't give the green light often.

Adcock, back as a regular after being out of action from June 23 to Sept. 5 with a broken leg, and Eddie Mathews are about the only players who get the sign from Haney.

Haney had Warren Spahn, his lefthanded ace, warming up in the bullpen in the ninth with a 3-1 lead.

Asked about this, Haney said, "We've got to shoot the works, don't we? They had a man on. If they had come in with a lefthanded pinchhitter, I would have brought Spahn in."

The little skipper then said cautiously, "We got nine hits tonight. Aaron and Adcock each got three. Maybe that's a sign we've begun to snap out of the hit slump a bit."

Pitching
Bobby Shantz, Yankees — allowed only four hits in 7-1 victory over the Tigers, winning his 11th after going winless for a month and gaining a 10-0 edge over Detroit since 1950.

'Ted' Hikes Batting Average to .377

BOSTON (AP)—Boston's Ted Williams, back in uniform despite lingering effects of a heavy chest cold, was a step closer today to becoming the oldest batting champion in the history of modern baseball.

The 39-year-old slugger belted a pinch homer in his first appearance since Sept. 1 Tuesday night to help lift the Red Sox to a 9-8 victory over the Kansas City Athletics.

Ted's 34th homer, a 400-foot smash into the right field seats, boosted his average to .377 for a commanding 11-point lead over Mickey Mantle of New York for the American League batting title.

Honus Wagner, a member of the Hall of Fame, is the oldest ever to win a major league batting championship. He led the National League with a .334 mark when he was 37 in 1911.

Oklahoma Favored Over Pittsburgh; Navy, Duke Selected As Grid Victors

NEW YORK (AP)—Football seasons, like birthdays, keep rolling around faster each year. Here's hoping not all the candles are blown out on opening day.

Oklahoma over Pittsburgh: This could be the Sooners' toughest game of the year but it definitely will be their 41st consecutive triumph.

Texas A & M over Maryland: The Aggies are driving for a Cotton Bowl berth this year and won't be sidetracked in their opening game.

Navy over Boston College: Bob Reifsnnyder has been shifted to center to give Navy's its heaviest line ever.

Virginia Tech over Tulane: Strictly a hunch. It is a Friday night game.

Duke over South Carolina: This one may decide the Atlantic Coast

Conference title on the opening day.

Oregon State over Southern California: Joe Francis, as fine a tailback as you'll see, gives the host Oregon State team the edge.

Baylor over Villanova: The Philadelphia Wildcats travel here and there for their games. Unfortunately, their victories also come only here and there — and they definitely won't win here.

California over Southern Methodist: Each team has a new coach. California also has Joe Kapp at quarterback.

Skippping over the others: FRIDAY NIGHT:

Size, Experience, Bobby Cox Make Gophers Team to Watch

MINNEAPOLIS — A Big Ten football championship team seems to be brewing at the University of Minnesota with such ingredients as impressive size, exceptional experience and fiery quarterback Bobby Cox.

However, Coach Murray Warmath fends off suggestions his Gophers are loaded sufficiently to dethrone arch-rival Iowa with the comment:

"People are looking into our kitchen, but they don't see what goes into the apple pie."

He may have in mind an unprecedented Big Ten conference schedule of eight games in which the Gophers meet every other member except Ohio State.

But this senior-dominated Minnesota club which marks the first full harvest of Warmath's four-season Gopher regime is virtually the same team which finished in a second-place conference tie with Michigan last fall.

Warmath concedes that Cox, a daring, talented split T quarterback, is a potential All-America and that this is his most experienced Minnesota team.

The Gophers are two deep in experience at every position except left half, where a swift sophomore, Willie Martin, could edge out two lettermen, Bob Soltis and Dave Lindblom.

"Naturally, I'm delighted some people rate us No. 1 in the conference, but I'm surprised, too," said the cautious Warmath.

"Our speed is average to slightly below average for the Big Ten. Our line is fairly large, maybe slightly above Big Ten average. Our passing and running are average. On the ground, we will have more power than elusiveness, unless Martin makes the grade."

"Our passing could improve with better receivers than we had last year in sophomore ends Tom Moore and Jerry Friend and in Martin."

As for Minnesota playing eight conference games, against seven for such other top contenders as Ohio State and Michigan, and six for Michigan State and Iowa, Warmath pretends he doesn't mind it.

Minnesota's depth includes Cox and two experienced alternates at quarterback, Dick Larson and Jim Reese, the best passer of the three, and three fine fullbacks, Bob Blakeley, Rich Borstad and Rhody Tuszka.

U.S. Tennis Champ Defeated In Upset

LOS ANGELES — A brassy Texan named Sammy Giammalva has handed freshly crowned U.S. champion Mal Anderson of Australia a stunning upset in the 31st annual Southwest tennis championships.

Four times Tuesday, the Aussie had match point on unseeded Giammalva, who couldn't make the U.S. Davis Cup squad this season. The lad from Houston, however, battled back with a smashing service and aggressive net game, putting Anderson out of the tourney, 11-9, 1-6, 10-8.

London—Randy Turpin, 171½, Britain, stopped Ahmed Boulgroune, 171½, Algeria, 9.

Anthony Won't Slug It Out With Moore

LOS ANGELES — Tony Anthony's manager states with confidence that his young challenger might stop the venerable light heavyweight champion Archie Moore with a single punch on Friday night.

"He can hit and he can box," says Ernie Braca of the 22-year-old New Yorker. "He can take a guy out in one punch."

Braca, however, appears to go along with the general feeling that the longer the bout progresses, the better Anthony's chances. The fight is scheduled for 15 rounds.

"He's not going out there to trade with the champion," the manager said. "We know Moore is tough and can hit, so why play into his hands?"

"Tony will stay away and wait for openings in the later rounds," certainly Anthony showed a solid punch last April 4 when he stopped Chuck Spieser in the third round to earn the title shot. Still questionable is his ability to take a punch.

Moore has stopped 116 of 185 foes and he can be expected to go after a quick knockout.

Midwest Grid Briefs

CHICAGO — Midwest football briefs:

Michigan—Halfback Jim Pace and end Gary Praht, a pair of first stringers, were added to the Wolverine injured list. Pace suffered bruised ribs and Praht injured his head.

Michigan State — Sophomore quarterback Larry Belat, who missed practice Monday amidst reports he was leaving MSU, was back with the team. "Larry wanted a day off to go home about a personal problem," said Coach Duffy Daugherty.

Minnesota — The Gophers refrained from heavy contact work because of mounting injuries. Purdue—The Boilermakers will end double drills today since classes begin Thursday. Coach Jack Mollenkopf said his squad is "small in size but big in heart."

Indiana—Hoosier coaches, preparing the team for the Michigan State opener, praised the run-through drills with swift, hard-hitting precision. Featuring the workout was heavy ground play. Illinois—The Illini stressed their passing game in drills with five quarterbacks taking part. Doing the throwing were Bob Hickey, Bill Offenbecher, Tom Haller, Chuck Schrader and Russ Martin.

Northwestern — Star halfback Bob McKeiver will probably do the punting and kicking off for the Wildcats. McKeiver was the best of a lot who drilled on those two points Tuesday.

Wisconsin — Four members of the Badger squad have quit. They are Gary Goldenberg, son of former Green Bay Packer star, Buckets Goldenberg; Ken Wodarski, John Jooss and Jack Joyce. All are sophomores.

Notre Dame—Three players — left guard Jim Schaaf, and tackles Frank Geremia and Don Lawrence—returned to action bolstering Notre Dame's injury riddled line. Guards Al Eucuyer and Bob Gaydos are still sidelined.

White Cat Takes
Ride in Clothes Drier

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Mrs. Chester Massey placed some towels in her clothes drier and went about her daily chores Tuesday.

A telephone next to the drier rang 10 minutes later and Mrs. Massey—well, let her tell it: "The more I talked the more I realized something was wrong. I glanced at the drier and saw this white thing going around inside. I knew I hadn't put anything white in there—just brown towels. "I opened the door and there was Mossie, my cat, inside." She said the pet took five minutes to get its breath.

CONSTIPATED?

New laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks without gag, bloat or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken, constipating contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-E-E-T-C-H STIMULATE it to action; to a normal urge to purge.

And, of all laxatives, only COLONOID, the amazing new laxative discovery possesses COLONOID's great moisturizing capacity, plus COLONOID's stretch-stimulating bulk. So effective it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, COLONOID is yet so smooth, so gentle it has proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy.

Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONOID neither gags, bloats nor gripes; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions.

It's a physiological fact: Exercise tones your body! And COLONOID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Get COLONOID, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! Only 98¢ for the 60 tablet package, brings positive relief at less than 2¢ per tablet.

She Is Dope Addict

Father Describes Horror His Daughter Has Caused Family

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "I am her father," Mr. X said, "But I'd rather see her in her casket than the way she is today."

The man, keeping his back to the audience in the hearing room and shielding his face as much as possible, was describing the seven years of horror his daughter, one of eight children, had caused the family.

She is a dope addict. "Daddy, I've gotta have heroin—or alcohol," he quoted her yesterday at a State Senate Interim Committee on Narcotics hearing. "And when she doesn't get dope, she drinks alcohol like it was water," he said.

Mr. X, the only name by which he was identified, said it all started when his daughter was 16 and attended a party at a friend's house.
